COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The report of the Shade Tree Committee has been submitted to the Board of Selectmen. There is a list of the tagged trees that must be removed. In 1965 the town crew cut about 24 trees and the Goodall Company took down an additional 61 trees. The list for 1966 contains 155 trees that are diseased. These must be removed. The elm tree disease hit all areas of the state very hard this year and it took an extremely high number of trees in the Bethel area. There isn't enough money available to remove all of the marked trees. The bids request will be written so the price for removal of each individual tree is separate. That will make it possible to spend all of the money available and at the same time the work can be kept in concentrated areas.

The new standard drive International truck is in Portland having the dump body installed. The installation should be finished late this week. The truck should be delivered to the local dealer by the first of the week and be in possession of the town some time next week.

The highway crew did some work at the airport last week. Some of the banks along the edge of the runway were cut down and the excess material was used at places along the runway that needed fill. There is still some money left in the airport account but at present I do not know what it will be used for.

The highway crew will start stockpiling salted sand for winter next week. The sand will be screened again this year. Last year was the first year that the sand was screened and was so much better that I believe it will be standard practice for the future.

Michael Houlihan

Richard Packard from Northeastern University, Boston, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Packard.

Rev. and Mrs. Burton Linscott have returned to their home in Honolulu, Hawaii, after spending some time at their cottage, Suaga Pond.

If the unknown owner of the antique wood and iron ice skates loaned for the Antique Exhibit during Mollycoddle Day and still unclaimed, is planning to use them this winter, the chairman will gladly deliver them to him if he will give his name to any officer of the Society.

The General Meeting of the W. S. C. S. will be held Thursday (tonight) at the Methodist Church Annex. Plans for the annual fall sale will be formulated at this time.

Bennett's Garage, Inc. closed its doors last Saturday after serving the area for many years. Founded by the late Clarence Bennett, the business was first located in West Bethel moving to Bethel village in 1939. The company was a Chevrolet dealer since the early 1930's.

Following purchase of the Phil Clark property on Main Street in the village, Mr. Bennett erected a garage that is at present occupied by the business of Emory Angevine. The garage was extensively damaged by fire in 1964 and was rebuilt.

Mr. Bennett passed away in 1965.

Following his death the business was incorporated in 1965. The late Mr. Bennett purchased the building on Lower Main Street built by Warren Blake and operated both locations during 1932 and 1933.

Several additions were made to the Lower Main Street location during the past fifteen years. Part of the premises is now occupied by an outlet of the Maine State Liquor Commission.

The firm has sold its buildings and equipment to Gray Realty. Respectfully no definite plans have been made for disposition of the property by the purchasers.

CONGREGATIONAL DINNER AT METHODIST CHURCH ON OCTOBER 31

During the past few weeks a survey and program analysis has been taking place within the Bethel Methodist Church. An entirely new kind of stewardship program has been underway, in which the entire church will be contacted through its various organizations for program ideas for the next year. This year the emphasis is on the establishment of several study groups and the involvement of church people in them. Instead of conducting a commitment campaign where members are asked to commit themselves financially to the church program, the commitment sought this year will be in terms of involvement in the new program. Specific areas for participation in the life of the church will be listed on the commitment cards and people will be encouraged to indicate a commitment of involvement in the program. At the congregational dinner on Monday, Oct. 31, the congregation will receive more detailed information about the progress of the program development. The dinner, at 6:29 p. m., will be followed by reports from program leaders, group singing, and a discussion of church needs for the next year.

TRICK OR TREAT FOR UNICEF

The Junior Methodist Youth Fellowship will be conducting the Trick or Treat for Unicef drive on Halloween evening, Oct. 30. The program calls for house to house visitation from 6 to 7:30 p. m. after which the collectors will report to the church for refreshments and to make their reports.

UNICEF, the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund is the only agency of the United Nations concerned exclusively with the welfare of children throughout the world who live in the wake of hunger, malnutrition, disease, and ignorance. The story of UNICEF begins with the millions of children who survived World War II. To save their lives the United Nations General Assembly in 1946 passed resolution 57 creating the fund. Some sixty nations threw a lifeline of supplies—milk, blankets, materials for shoes and clothing, medicine—to millions of children in 14 war torn countries. This unique emergency program saved a generation of children. Never before had such a program been carried out on such an international scale.

But the task of UNICEF is really just beginning. Many of the world's children still remain in isolation from human concern. Caught between old and new ways, aware that misery need no longer be their destiny, people in developing countries are seeking an end to the suffering and hardships their children have always known. We have the opportunity to join in the glorious but hopeful project which has begun as a result of the establishment of the United Nations UNICEF.

The JV football team traveled to Berlin, N. H., last Monday, October 17. Neither the Gould team nor Berlin scored until the last three minutes of the game when Berlin made its touchdown, leaving the final score 6-0. Coach Joe Roderick felt the team played well against a heavier Berlin team. He cited Peter Kalle, Dale Buck and Dennis Durgin for the fine game they played.

Interest and enthusiasm mounts for the Gould cross country team with each successive victory. Coach Frank Vogt's hard working team has an impressive fall season record of five victories in six meets. This week the team travels to Hebron Academy and to Farmington. Special interest will be attached to the Farmington meet Thursday, October 20, because it is the regional qualifying meet determining which teams may enter the state competition.

Next Monday, October 24, the cross country team will defend its Mountain Valley League championships of 1964 and 1965 at Gould Academy at 4:00 p. m. Gould boys have had this championship since the creation of the Mountain Valley League and the teams of Mexico, Wilton, Farmington, Livermore and Winthrop will be running hard to take the championship away from Gould. Each school in the League will enter seven runners. Running for Gould will be David Carter, Lloyd Carver, Bob Everett, Larry Fox, Jim Mann, Ned Robertson and Gene Tebbets. The outstanding records of these Gould runners this fall deserves the support of their student body and community at Monday's meet.

LETTER FROM GROVER DESCRIBES VISIT OF LAOTIAN PRIME MINISTER

The following letter has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grover describing the visit of the Laotian Prime Minister to the village where they are working. Mr. and Mrs. Grover are in Zeng Ngon, Laos, through the auspices of International Volunteers Service, Inc. The Grovers for several years operated "Grover's Golden Gallons" in Bethel.

Zeng Ngon, Laos
 October 2, 1966

Yesterday this picturesque and progressive village cluster was alerted to the coming on Sunday morning of the Prime Minister of Laos, Prince Souvarnah Phommavong. All day Saturday the villagers were busily engaged in "tidying up" an already neat and clean village. The menfolk were bringing in bamboo poles to construct a reception pavilion, some were cutting coconut fronds for decoration, and others were getting fresh coconuts to make a cool and refreshing drink for the distinguished visitors. Due to the present political unrest in the country the soldiers were deployed over the area surrounding the reception center—quiet, serious young men but with a ready smile for the American visitors. Sunday morning was like one of our Sabbath mornings back in the mountains of Maine—the first light of dawn showing over the mountain tops and then down into the valleys below and the mist rising here and there. Then the villagers who had been up since before dawn heading for the reception center.

Soon after eight, the villagers lined the road from the Village to the Garland Arch. About nine, the Prime and his party appeared at the arch and walking along the road greeted each villager individually.

When the Prime Minister and his party arrived at the Pavilion, he was met by several Lao officials, Robert and Jane Grover, and two other TVSers assigned to Laos agriculture.

Invited to all who desire to take advantage of these meetings to come.

The Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Nelson were in Portland, on Monday and Tuesday of this week for the annual meeting of the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Diocese of Maine and for a Clergy Conference on Tuesday.

The Churchwomen had asked for Nelson to open the annual meeting of the Rev. A. T. Eastman, Executive Secretary of the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Diocese of Maine and the address of the Bishop of Bermuda at the banquet on Monday. On Tuesday he made a recording of the speech of the Bishop of Bermuda at the Clergy Conference at Cape Elizabeth.

MERRY RING WRITES OF TRAINING FOR VISTA WORK

Following are excerpts from letters received from Merry Ring who is receiving training at the University of Alaska to prepare her for a year with Vista (Volunteers in Service to America) in that area.

College, Alaska
 Sept. 22

We have classes from 7-12, 1-4 and 7-9 each day. So far we've had the history, economic, politics, anthropology, and government services (extension, courses etc.) of Alaska. The army is coming to give us survival methods for the Arctic. We are taking the complete Red Cross First Aid and also are getting Medical Self Help Book—care up to 10 days without an M.D. and training about frostbite. We'll have ROTC training in handling of firearms and target practice, also use and repair of camping gear. This is all sandwiched in with community development which is what we're supposed to be doing. Actually it's how to get into a village, how to get started etc. The whole point is we don't go in there and start something grand and then leave at the end of a year. We have failed if what is accomplished doesn't remain a permanent part of the village after we leave. Next Friday we leave for 2 and one half weeks training in Indian villages. We return, discuss the past two weeks, get classes on fish and game management, Eskimo language instruction (in the Bethel (Alaska) area less than 1/2 speak English), environmental health, law enforcement and teaching basic education to adults and head start. At the end of that week we are assigned to villages for the year.

Right now I'm in Tanana, Alaska on the Yukon R. It's a small village of 400 people, 15% of whom are white. It's way above most Eskimo villages (it's Athabaskan Indian). It has a 7-room school house—28 in the H.S., a Federal Aviation Admin. office and a hospital. Two stores (one has clothing, electric knife sharpeners, dishes etc.) We have electricity in our cabin. We have to carry water from a well and to sure time from that I'm here with two girls—both from the city. They've never seen a wood fire and will let it go out several times a day. We also have to cut our own wood. That's difficult because all the trees near have been cut so you have to go back quite a ways.

We're supposed to be getting to know the people, what they need and want. Right now this village is kind of down and no one cares about anything. The generator broke a few weeks ago and it was eleven days before anyone checked to see why there wasn't any electricity.

There are a few jobs here, working for the hospital or the FAA. Other than that the only jobs are fire fighting (excellent) or construction. Both are in the summer. In the winter people fish and hunt and live on subsistence economy. Now they are getting money for the winter and during fish which is used mostly for the dogs. There must be as much as many dogs here as people and right now all of them are howling.

The housing here is poor (good by village standards) but the beds are better than many around here.

The Episcopal minister here is related to the Westlunds in West Bethel. In there are three churches here (Episcopal, Catholic and Arctic Mission). There is a library and a community hall. In Alaska there are no towns. Most of the native villages are unincorporated and have no form of government except a village council which acts for them in connection with the government. If they do have a government they become a city. As a result Tanana is a fourth class city. So someone may ask if you've seen the city and which might be about the size of the Sunday School room.

The way of life is changing here. Now that men go outside to work in the summer they can't get enough fish to feed the dogs so they are now getting meat. It is becoming a luxury to have a lot of dogs.

On Sept. 10-12, 66, we met at our own mothers' Mrs. Ring's. We worked on projects and made sketches of houses. All of us brought our West Books. Refreshments were brought by Jim Westlough. (Jim's sister met with us at Bethel and Betty Hansen has refreshments. We had the fish soup. Pemmican and pickled herring. Keweenaw is the Buckskin. Jim Westlough.
